

THE COMPLEXITY OF IDEALS IN COMPUTABLE RINGS

JOE MILETI

I will discuss joint work with Rod Downey and Steffen Lempp on the complexity of ideals in computable rings. One specific question we will answer is whether we can detect rings which are not fields effectively via nontrivial ideals. We will also discuss the complexity of finitely generated ideals, along with important ideals like the nilradical and Jacobson radical.