

Hint for Problem 133

Imagine taking a stack of  $k$  books, and breaking it up into stacks to put into the boxes in the same order they were originally stacked. If you are going to use  $n$  boxes, in how many places will you have to break the stack up into smaller stacks, and how many ways can you do this?